
Employee ID cards

Background colour: Orange (with or without ITIC licence) or blue (with ALIVE licence)

Intended for: Charles University employees and persons who have concluded a work contract with Charles University (“employee”)

Validity: The duration of employment or the validity of a work contract, however, a maximum of nine years from the date of issue. If an employee is employed at or has a work contract at more than one faculty or unit of Charles University, an ID card will be issued at each of these faculties or units, and the identification of the employee and all of their issued ID cards will be secured via the CU information system. After terminating employment or the work contract, the employee is required to return the ID card.

Variations:

- CU employee ID card

- CU employee ID card with an ITIC licence (International Teacher Identity Card)

- CU employee ID card with an ALIVE licence

An ID card with an ITIC licence may be issued to an employee for a specific period of time only once. This type of ID is limited to academic staff with at least a 0.3 work schedule and with a work contract valid for at least 12 months.

An ID card with an ALIVE licence may be issued to an employee for a specific period of time only once and only if an ID card with an ITIC licence has not been issued for the employee (even if the validity of the ITIC licence on the card has expired). This type of ID is limited to CU employees whose employment with a faculty or other unit of Charles University does not allow the employee to obtain an employee ID card with an ITIC licence.
