We would like to invite you to an inspiring lecture “How to become a real scientist from a struggling PhD student?” organized by the SIAM student association on Wednesday 17/4 in a hybrid form. Professor Carola-Bibiane Schönlieb from the University of Cambridge will share her journey from PhD struggles to scientific success. Participants will be able to ask anything they are interested in regarding this topic. More information can be found here:

- SIAM website
- Facebook
- Instagram

Professor Carola-Bibiane Schönlieb is a Professor of Applied Mathematics at the Department of Applied Mathematics and Theoretical Physics, University of Cambridge, and a head of the Cambridge Image Analysis group. Her work is focused on variational methods, PDEs and machine learning for image analysis and image processing. In 2016, she won the Whitehead Prize of the London Mathematical Society ‘for her spectacular contributions to the mathematics of image analysis’. Carola is currently chairing the SIAM activity group on Imaging Sciences and the Applied Mathematics Committee of the European Mathematical Society.
