

Admissions

Charles University offers an increasing number of study programmes taught in foreign languages. The most common foreign language of instruction is English. There is, of course, a wide range of study programmes taught in Czech. The degree programmes and fields of study at Charles University connect its long tradition in the humanities, natural and medical sciences with the most modern scientific approaches. The quality of education at Charles University meets the highest European standards.

More information is available in the individual sections on the left.

Tuition fees are charged usually for study programmes in foreign languages.
The university provides all study programmes in the Czech language free of charge.

Apply for Admission	Study Programmes	Diploma Recognition	Tuition Fees and Scholarships